

[There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death:
and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.

[There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death:
and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.

[There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death:
and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.

[There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death:
and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.

[There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death:
and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.

[There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death:
and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.

21_ECC_08:08 [There is] no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither [hath he] power in the day of death: and [there is] no discharge in [that] war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it.